· MARINES v. ALACRITY. Played on the Naval Ground yesterday. Soon after starting the Marines scored a capital goal through Higham, and continued to press throughout the first half.

The defence of the Alacrity, however, held out stubbornly and at the interval the score rend :- Marines, I; Alacri y, 0. On resuming, the Warines continued to press but their opponents broke away. Hill shot hard into the Marine goalie's hands, who trying to clear he carried the ball through his own goal. Both teams tried hard to secure the winning point but when the final whistle blow the score was unaltered, two goals being divided.

The onometry class, in charge of Mr Grant, was divided into seniors and juniors. Of the 6 seniors 5 passed on a fairly difficult gaper; and of H Juniors, 9 passed; these results give 83 per cent, and 82 per cent.

In the coming school year, an attempt will be made to instil into our boys . sound liking for good literature, by proriding, in higher classes, more than a single reader for the year's work. Boys will be encouraged in what has been happily termed silent reading, which, un-der suitable guidance, should create a wholesome capacity for organised study, and a healthy taste for good books. The system is now being tried at Home; and there is much to be advanced in its favour. It may be both possible and advisable, in the course of the next three or four years. to attempt some separation of our Upper School into divisions roughly corresponding to the Commercial and Classical sides found in schools at Homo. Not too slavish an imitation, should be followed; our differences are so great, our aims so divergent. It seems but fair to add here a word of richly merited appreciation of the aplendid industrial work so unobtrusivoly done in Victoria Gaol. Quite a numher of well-worn volumes in the College Library have been re-bound there in a m et serviceable and workmani-ke mannor. On the Vernacular side, confined to the Lower School, 395 boys, arranged in 5 classes and 15 sections, were examined 362 or 91.6 per cent passing. These results also are an improvement on those of last

Of these boys, 63 in 4 sections, are 1910. in the 5th or highest class; 87, in 3 sections, in the 4th class; 10, in Sections, in Class 3; 83, in 3 sections in class 2; and 52 in sections in the first and lowest class. as hitherto been the practice to insist on a boy passing the 4th Vernscular class before he can be promoted from the Lower School to the Upper, i.e., before he can pass out of Class IV. Boys entering the lowest Vernacular class have so far been expected to have had a preparatory ground ing equal to 2 or 3 years' work in Chinese studies. The standard should be raised at each end: we should in this way get boys with a still better Vernacular training in the Jpper School, where they would then be ble to do more advanced translation, and

END OF THE MOOSA CASE.

Before the Puisne Judge (Mr Justice Comperts) and a jury, the case was concluded at the Surreme Court this morning in which Moosa Ebrahim was charged with offences under the Bankruptcy Ordinance. The Acting Attorney General (Mr. F. A. Hazeland) and Mr M. W. Slade prosecuted on behalf of the Crown, while Mr Eldon with the crinfinal calendar this month. Potter defended.

Mr Slade-Before proceeding with the cross-examination, my Lord, I should like to make a personal explanation. I see by the report in the papers that the words used with reference to my learned friend rather convey an imputation quite different from what I intended. They apparently meant that I though Mr Potter had been guilty of dishonourable conduct, I meant and do mean, naturally, nothing of the

-His Lordship-No! I never supposed anything of the kind.

Mr Slade-Of course there is an honest difference of opinion as to the propriety asking questions which are inadmissable I do not think that ought to be done, but other people think it Milegitimate, and is all I intended to refer to. Mr Potter-I did not for a moment think you meant anything else. Mr Slade-But the words as reported i the papers do bear that interpretation, and I have thought fit to make my explanation aspublicly as the statement has been made. Mr Potter Thanks.

In the course of cross-examination, de fendant adhered to his statement that he and Allana tore up their agreements of partnership in the firm of Allane and Co. Why did you on the eve of your bank. ruptcy sacrifice your share in this shop ,:-I was not bankrupt,

You were unable to pay your debts, weren't you, on November 7th ?-Non When were you unable to pay your debts, on the 9th ?- I decided to stop payment on the 11th of November. Do I understand you to say you were solvent on the 7th and solvent on the 9th and insolvent on the 11th ?- I thought myself to be. That was what I told Mr You said you received a telegram on the 9th from your father advising you to fun away. Was that because you were insolvent -I don't know. Mr Potter-The telegram was, "If you don't get money clear out."-There is considerably more in the telegram than

Answering further questions, defendant sdmitted that on the 6th November he was trying to got money. But he did not know how his assets might come out. Defendant refused to answer a question as to the value of some goods pludged with

Do you refuse to answer the question because you fear you may incriminate yourself in a criminal charge ?-Yes.

Do you ask the jury to believe that you voluntarily gave up your entire interests in the shop just on the eve of your insolvency?-On the 7th of November. That

. Before Mr Slade addressed the Court, Mr Potter raised a point in reference to the partnership between Moosa and Allana. The case for the trown was that in fact defendant's share had been transfered to his infant son, as deposed by Allana Allana further added that it was a fraudulent transfer. But it did not matter, he (Mr Potter) contended whether the assignment was fraudulent or not. The effect of its being fraudulent, was that it was not valid as against the trustee in bankruptcy, but it was a good assignment in the sonse that it passed the property from Moosa to another person. Accepting Allama's statement as true, for the sake of argument then Moosa had no longer got any share in the partnership, and whether the transfer was finudulent or not did not hake any difference whatever. If the jury were conrict they must do so on the case for the Crown, 'or, in other words, on Allana's evidence, which he was sure they would not do unsupported Defendant mas indicted for concealment of goods, but it the goods were not his the indictment

Mr Sinds replied that the legal effect of the document, according to Allana's statement," was nil. If the statement was to be believed, it was a document executed not for the purpose of being acted upon, but was intended to be used as a shield against outside claims, if necessary. 'Allana's case was that Moosa's share had not been taken from him at all, but that he and Moose were still partners All that had been done was that Allana had signed a 'document which could be used to negative the suggestion that Allana and Moosa had ever been partners. That was the whole scheme of the document.

His Lordship noted the objection raised or Mr Potter.

Addressing the Court, Mr Slade referred to the counts in the indictment charging prisoner with concealment of property asserting that the onus of proof that there was no intent to defraud was on the prisoner." If there had, been concealment it was assumed to be fraudulent unless prisoner proved to the contrary. The same thing applied to the charge of material admission or mis-statement in the statement of affairs. Speaking to the jury, counsel said they had to decide whether defendant had been guilty s series of fraudulent acts in connection with his bankruptcy. The principal witness for the Crown was Allana, and on that man had been made a most vigorous attack. He was held up to them -and would no doubt be so again-with burning .words from Mr Potter, as one of the basest and lowest of humanity, a man whom nobody could believe in any possible circumstances, a man who had confessed being guilty of all the atrocious crimes the wit of man could devise. That was the character in broad outline; possibly a little exaggerated-(Mr Potter-" Not a bit," and laughter) which his friend was going to to give Allana. If his friend had not made this attack upon Allana, but merely conand Allans, it would not be his (Mr. gether on the ground that his snewers

Mr Potter, summing up on behalf of the defence, said this was a rather poculiar prosecution. Over two years had clapsed before defendant had been brought before the jury to answer these alleged fraudulent acts. There was another peculiar point about the case on which be should have thought his friend would have enlightened the jury. It was their presence there; they were special jurors. In the ordinary course they would have had no hing to do

With regard to the Kowloon contractor. the President said the committee appointed fit to carry out his contract any longer. Before submitting their report to the Board. however, they wished to give his sureties time to consider the matter. The committee's decision was approved and the contractor was called before the Board. The President stated, with regard to the complaint against the city contractor, that at the time the committee was appointed to investigate the charges against the Kowlocu man, the question was raised of appointing a committee to deal with pharges against any contractor, but it was not put in the ferm of a resolution. He did not know whether members would like the matter to be dealt with by the whole Board, or whather they would prefer to carry out the suggestion and appoint a permanent committee to deal with all charges and report to the Board. Mr Shelton Hooper thought that the charges should first be referred to the committee. He moved that a standing committee be appointed to investigate and deal with charges made against all contractors employed by the Board, and that the President, the Registrar-General and Mr Lau Chu Pak be appointed members of such Committee.

Hon. Mr Hewatt seconded, and the motion was arreed to-.The President stated that he had never had to report the city conservancy contractor before, but recently, for some reason or other, that contractor absolutely declined to furnish proper numbers of the men engaged by him, or to give their names. An absolutely fictitious list had been provided, and there was not a single boatman who would answer to the name given him. On Girl's Face and Back -- Back was Dreadful to See-Itching and Pain Kept Sufferer from Work for Weeks at a Time-Amazed at Prompt Cure Effected by Just

ONE SET OF CUTICURA SOAP AND OINTMENT

"Some time ago my back and face were not so consple-uous on my face, but my back was dread-ful to see. The itch was very painful to bear. I was away from work for weeks at a time, but I did not consult a physician: I was sick of trying different rem-scies; in fact, I did not put much faith in them although I did try them. At last, getting a cake of Cutlours Sosp, I washed myself with it. I was amazed to see the difference it made, and therefore I bought a box of Cutlours Cinkment. That was all I needed; the cure was complete after having been annoyed eleven months. I shall be glad to recommend Cutlours to my friends. Miss Jeanie Riach, Ladysmith, Gray St., Perth, Soctland, June 23, 1908."

Effected by Cuticura Soap,

Ointment and Resolvent. The agenizing itching and burning of the skin, as in eczema; the frightful scaling, as in pseriesis; the less of hair and crusting of scalp, as in scalled head; the facial disfigurement, as in scale and ringworm; the awful suffering of infants, and anxiety of worn-out parents, as in tetter or salt rheum—all demand, a remedy of extraordinary virtues to successfully cope with them. That Cuticura Soap, Cintment and Resolvent (liquid or pills) are such stands proven by unquestioned testimonials.

Cutiours Remarkins are sold throughout the world, a single set often rures. Depois: London, 27. Charterhouse Sq.: Paris 5, Rue de la Paix: Australia, R. Towns & Co., Sydney; Sc.
